WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called today for a "pay as you go" policy on federal finances.

Speaking at a luncheon of the National Press Club, Eisenhower said that if a balance between income and spending can be maintained this coming year, it may lead to "substantial surpluses" in the future.

With such a financial program, he held out the possibility of tax cuts.

Eisenhower said the United States must reform its tax structure in a number of ways. He said Secretary of the Treasury Anderson is studying ways of revising the tax structure.

"I would not be prepared to say that we would be prepared to recommend next year, as the first move in this field, the reduction of individual income taxes," he said.

The President hit at the idea that federal spending can promote prosperity.

He said he does not believe it is the federal government which creates prosperity.

What the American people do is far more important, he said, and the government should limit itself to doing what the people cannot do for themselves — national security, for instance.

Eisenhower stressed that it is primarily up to the people themselves to spend their money wisely and prevent inflation.

He said he believes the United States is on a sound financial basis.

Students Questioned in School Fires

CHICAGO (AP) — Police juvenile officers held a 14-year-old boy for questioning about two separate fires that broke out in a South Side public grade school during the lunch hour Tuesday.

A fire marshal said he believes a pupil started the blazes.

Firemen quickly put out the flames in two adjoining rooms on the first floor of the Shoop Elementary School on the far South Side. No one was injured, but about 40 teachers eating lunch and a few pupils who returned to class early were forced to flee the two-story brick building. Most of the 1,400 pupils were home for lunch.

The fire was the third reported in the school since Thanksgiving. The Shoop school is across the city from Our Lady of the Angels Parochial School, where 90 students and three nuns died in a fire Dec. 1.

Cuba Calls Halt to Executions, Promises Trials

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Rebel leader Fidel Castro, contends the executions springing from his civil war victory are necessary to purify Cuba after six years of dictatorial rule.

The future course of the revolutionary purge was a subject of conflicting statements, but Castro made clear in a speech Tuesday night he considers the shooting of "war criminals" justified.

Amid mounting criticism abroad, rebel firing squads have executed more than 150 persons on charges of murder, torture and other high crimes during the regime of President Fulgencio Batista, who fled two weeks ago. It is estimated 3,000 others face summary court trials, many of which have been held in secret.

Castro, now chief of the Cuban armed forces, took note of an adverse reaction within the United States in his speech to the Havana Lions Club.

"Why didn't the Americans attack when the Batista government was executing people en masse?" he asked.

Those who have killed now were executed to demonstrate that they could not get away with murder and crimes against the people, Castro said.

A similar defense had been offered in a press statement by the provisional government's foreign minister, Roberto Agramonte.

Agramonte declared that if the new regime did not mete out swift justice, the people would take the law into their own hands to avenge the torture and murder of an estimated 20,000 Cubans by Batista police and troops.

A presidential palace spokesman was quoted Tuesday night by a government press source as saying the government had ordered the suspension of all executions. The order was reported to have followed a conference between Castro and the man he installed as "provisional president," Manuel Urrutia.

A presidential secretary today denied the executions had been suspended. He also denied Castro and Urrutia had met on Tuesday. The secretary told reporters assigned to the presidential palace the executions in fact were continuing in accordance with due process of law.

But no specific instances of new activity by the firing squads were reported immediately.

Both the statement of the presidential secretary and of the press source Tuesday night said the names of the accused and the charges against them would be made available to newsmen. Reporters also were invited to cover the trials.

Earlier Tuesday Castro had defended the executions as "necessary to purify the nation." And Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte said.

Precipitation during January, frequently in the form of snow and sleet, is expected to be heavy over the southern half of the nation lying east of the Continental Divide and in the Middle Atlantic states. Light to moderate amounts are anticipated over the remainder of the country.

Thirty-day temperature outlook for January calls for below normal over the eastern third of the nation, Southern Plains and Gulf Coast. Above normal is indicated for the Northern Plains and areas west of the Continental Divide. Elsewhere, near normal temperatures are the prospect.

Clarksville Man Picked to Be on Highway Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said that he would submit the nomination of Armit Taylor, 58, of Clarksville, as a member of the Arkansas Highway Commission to the state Senate this afternoon.

Taylor will succeed Raymond F. Orr of Fort Smith, whose term expires today.

No opposition to Taylor's confirmation by the Senate is expected. His term will be for 10 years.

Faubus announced early in December he would name Taylor to the commission as his fourth appointment to the five-member group.

Taylor is a former legislator, a former member of the Game and Fish Commission, and a one-time legislative secretary and campaign manager for former Gov. Ben Laney. He is an insurance broker.

Orr was first chairman of the Highway Commission in its present form. He is a Fort Smith businessman.

The commission is expected to elect a new chairman soon to succeed holdover member Glenn F. Wallace of Nashville, whose term expires today.

Two names have been mentioned: that of Vice Chairman Harry Parkin of Little Rock and that of Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff. Parkin is serving a regular term, but Blackwell, co-author of the constitutional amendment under which the present-type commission was set up, is serving out the unexpired term of Commissioner Cecil S. Lynch of Pine Bluff, who was killed in an automobile accident last year.

Ford Cool to Ika's School Aid Ban

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's plan to block federal aid for public schools closed or converted in racial disputes has brought a cool reaction from state Education Commissioner Arch W. Ford.

Ford said yesterday there was nothing significant in the action, he said, the only schools affected were the four closed Little Rock high schools, and they weren't eligible for federal aid anyway.

WILD SUMMIT

THE STORY: Gil Yeager has an affidavit clearing him of a murder charge. He shows the paper to Judge Carmody and Sheriff Klint Hyatt.

Chapter III

Klint Hyatt, narrow cheeks pulled to a sour scowling, spoke up.

"Sounds almost too smooth. Yeager could have paid some slick lawyer to fake that for him."

"Ridiculous," snorted Judge Carmody. "Any suggestion of doubt of the authenticity of this document is sheer stupidity. For it happens that I know Andy MacLeod, and have for years. I have corresponded with him, both privately and officially, on numerous occasions. I recognize his signature. This document is an honest statement of fact. Else Andy MacLeod would never have penned it and put his name to it."

"But why should Shad Emmett have admitted to perjury?" argued Hyatt stubbornly. "What did he have to gain?"

"Something like this, I think," put in Yeager. "Actually, Shad Emmett never did have anything against me personally. And when I came up with him it was in two rivers, and he was in custody of Marshal MacLeod, about to take stage for Grand City to answer there on an old train and mail robbery charge. Evidently he figured that it might gain him some degree of leniency in the Grand City court, if he cleared things up for me."

"Right!" agreed Judge Carmody. "Such has occurred in my own court, a man admitting to past misdeeds in hope of gaining lighter punishment for the one presently charged with. I take it, Mr. Yeager, that Shad Emmett—or whatever his true name is—withheld this sworn evidence at your trial."

Yeager nodded. "He was the one person who could prove I was miles away from Burnt Corral when Cress Lucas was killed there. But by the time he reached the witness stand, someone had got him—evidently with money. Anyway, he testified that he had not seen me on Aspen Creek as I claimed. After that, as I saw it, my only hope was to break jail, locate Shad Emmett and somehow get the truth out of him. It was a long and desperate chance. But I got lucky finally."

Judge Carmody stared across the room with musing, speculative glance before speaking slowly.

"Mr. Yeager, even the most vernal of courts would hardly dare bring a murder charge against a man, based on such evidence, unless there had occurred some previous display of bad blood between this man and his claimed victim. Was such the case with you?"

Again Yeager nodded. "Yes, Judge, Cress Lucas and me, we'd done some heavy arguing over a range boundary, and one time in the Lodgepole Bar we'd mixed it with our fists and traded some pretty strong talk, as men will when their minds are cluttered with anger. It was, of course, common knowledge that Lucas and I were hardly the best of friends. He paused, then asked, "What's ahead for me now, Judge?"

"Exonerated, of course," stated Judge Carmody crisply. "Full and complete. No honest court could hesitate in granting you all of that in the face of such a documented alibi as I hold here. I will have the charges against you set aside immediately."

"I'm still not entirely satisfied," Klint Hyatt persisted. "Judge Carmody whirled on him testily. "Don't persist in playing the utter jackass, Sheriff Hyatt! In a moment you'll have me suspecting personal bias on your part, rather than official assiduity." The Judge's blue eyes, were flashing, and the thunder rolling in his tone. "As of this moment, you will consider yourself officially advised that Gilman Yeager stands completely cleared of all past charges. You understand that, and will be guided accordingly."

Hyatt nodded sulkily. "I'm remembering that in making his jail break, Yeager assaulted my deputy. And that he threw a gun on me to force me over here from my office."

"In view of the gross miscarriage of justice which he was correcting, I think both instances may be viewed as excusable," Klint Hyatt turned toward the door, but Gil Yeager stopped him. "Just a minute! Judge, I'd like you to pass opinion on another matter."

Frowning, the Judge peered at Yeager. "And what is that?"

"Money. For hundred and fifty-five dollars and a few odd cents, I had that much in my jeans at the time of my arrest and it was taken away from me. I want it back."

"Consider me witness to the fact that Gil had the money," Terence said. "He put in Johnny Hook solidly."

Judge Carmody put his glance on Klint Hyatt again. "What have you to say to that, Sheriff?"

Hyatt shrugged. "He'll get the money, of course. I'm no thief. In any major arrest we always empty the prisoner's pockets and hold what's in them for future court disposition."

Yeager said, "I'll be around first thing in the morning to collect, Hyatt."

Johnny Hook unlocked the door and Klint Hyatt moved off into the night.

Judge Terence Carmody pushed a hand through his snowy thatch.

"This," he remarked slowly, "has been something new in my judicial experience. A most unusual evening."

Judge Awaits Decision in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A young Alabama judge waited expectantly for a former college classmate to say today whether he must go to jail for disobeying a federal court order to produce vote registration records.

The fate of Circuit Judge George C. Wallace of Clayton, Ala., was expected to be decided by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson at a hearing scheduled for 10:30 a.m.

Johnson twice ordered the 36-year-old Wallace to make the registration files in Barbour and Bullock counties available to Civil Rights Commission agents who are checking complaints of discrimination against prospective Negro voters.

Wallace instead gave the records to county grand juries, which in turn agreed to let the federal agents inspect them in the presence of two members of each jury.

Johnson could hold Wallace in contempt and send him to jail for failure to comply with the federal court order.

Or, since the civil rights investigators were given access to the files by the grand juries, the federal judge might decide the purpose of his decree, if not the letter, had been carried out.

The Alabama judge, runnerup in the race for governor in the Democratic primaries last spring, gave no instructions to the jurors in turning the records over to them.

Commission agents accepted the Barbour County jury's compromise offer Tuesday after first rejecting an earlier proposal that would have required them to look at the files with all 18 jurors present.

Wallace, who had impounded the voter records on complaints of illegal voter registration, said ultimately he would call for grand jury investigations, refused to produce them at the commission hearing here Dec. 8.

Extra Stage Could Reach Mars, Venus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has ordered an extra firing stage that could permit use of the Atlas missile for shots to the vicinity of Mars and Venus.

It announced today the award of a contract for the upper stage to Convair Astronautics Division of General Dynamics. Convair makes the huge Atlas intercontinental missile. Company officials said the contract would amount to about seven million dollars in its first year.

The new upper stage will contain a high-powered rocket engine designed to kick vehicles to gravity-free speeds. One apparent use for the Atlas upper stage combination would be to launch a manned satellite under the Project Mercury program.

Seeks to Increase Rice Consumption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to provide for increased consumption of rice by the armed forces and in federal hospitals has been introduced by Rep. E. C. Catherino (D-Ark.).

His bill, similar to one he introduced last year but which failed to pass, is aimed at increasing rice consumption.

Catherino said that a somewhat similar program is in effect now for dairy products.

The bill would not interfere with normal channels of trade. It would provide that applicable agencies, when in need of above-normal quantities of rice, obtain additional amounts from surplus stocks of the government.

Agencies affected would be the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, the various service academies and various federal hospitals.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband's Phobia Calls for Medical Assistance

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My husband came from a broken home in which he often saw his mother being overfriendly with men. This has colored his whole life and he has become almost insanely jealous of me. During the last two years he's become much worse and the situation is almost unbearable. We have six children I do all my own work, make most of the clothes for all of us and my only outside activity is at church or school. Last week we had a telephone call for a wrong number. He insisted it was a man calling me and looked at the telephone in a box for a week. I could give hundreds of examples of equally unreasonable actions. I've tried in vain to get him to a marriage counselor. This is not only for myself but for the children, who are growing up in a very unhealthy atmosphere. How can I make him understand what he is doing to us? He's a fine person two-thirds of the time; a N. J.

Dear N. J.: Jealousy of such magnitude cannot be cured as a do-it-yourself project. If your husband lets this condition get the better of him, he'll wreck your and the children's health, and what could be a very, very happy marriage. He has developed a phobia that can be reached only by a psychologist or psychiatrist. He should at least see a marriage counselor with you. When jealousy becomes an obsession, as it has with your husband, it demands professional help. Seeing handsome men in every wrong number is as bad as seeing pink elephants on the ceiling. Try to get this point of view over during one of his "fine" periods.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I recently met a boy who is absolutely perfect in almost every thing. When I first met him he was going steady. Later, they broke up, and we began dating. Now he's going steady with the same girl again. Should I give up or fight for what I want? — Little Heartache.

Dear L. H.: You must have something less than 20-20 vision if you can't see the "No Trespassing" sign on this perfect male. He's already taken, so get over your heartache and find a new heartthrob.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My parents are from Italy and believe that a girl doesn't start dating until she is shopping for a husband. This should be at about 19. I'm 15 now and have a big dance coming up at school. How can I get my parents to let me go? — Thelma.

Dear Thelma: Arrange a meeting between your parents and a member of the faculty. The teacher will point out social differences between schoolgirls here and the schoolgirls there. If your folks are given authoritative assurance about social customs, including dating, they'll see things in a different light — I hope.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My boy friend won't come to the house because he says Mom does not like him. This isn't true. My mother has talked to his parents

Legislature

action to Gov. Orval E. Faubus' inaugural address began to fall. Both houses of the Arkansas Legislature went about routine tasks yesterday afternoon.

Two bills appropriating a total of $480,466 to pay the expenses of the 62nd General Assembly were approved, although, surprisingly, three senators voted against the upper chamber's appropriation. Apparently they objected to a provision which will allow each senator $720 in expense money.

The governor's anti-inflation proposal (S. R. 1) a constitutional amendment, setting up a direct system of financial aid to students won the qualified approval of many legislators.

Rep. Paul Van Dusen of Perry County, a staunch backer of the Faubus administration, said "I think it will be one of the amendments submitted to the people."

The Legislature is permitted to submit three such proposals to popular vote. Sen. Dan White of Fort Smith said he believed the plan has a good chance of passage "so long as he (Faubus) keeps it on a local option basis." But Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff said he would like to know more about the plan before making a statement one way or another "since I was not in on the preparation."

One other doubt was cast by Rep. Marion Crank of Little River county.

"I think it will be a workable plan," he said, "but doubt that it will survive an attack in the federal courts."

Within minutes after the governor's speech, in which he called for a continuation of the state's 1955 temporary reassessment program, the House received a resolution calling for a study of the legislation by a joint committee.

This was in sharp contrast to the opening day when one of the first bills offered in the House was to kill the reassessment program outright.

Yesterday's resolution, introduced by Rep. Jack Oakes of Woodruff County, said the purpose was to iron out objectionable features of the measure. Five members would be named from each house of the Legislature to study and recommend changes in the reassessment program.

The proposal was one of 16 introduced in the House, including one by Van Dusen to create a state department of weights and measures with broad police and regulatory powers.

Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill of Pulaski County proposed a fine of up to $100 and jail terms up to 30 days for political candidates failing to remove signs, billboards and other outdoor advertising within 30 days after an election.

In the Senate, backers of a plan to win "university" status for Arkansas State College of Jonesboro hit a temporary snag.

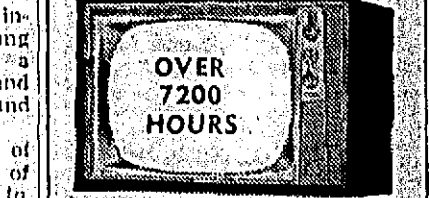

Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree introduced a bill authorizing a change in the college's name to "Arkansas State University." He proposed that it be placed on the Senate calendar which in effect would have unlimited committee hearings. But University of Arkansas supporters, led by Sen. Clifton Veador of Fayetteville, objected and on a standing vote the Senate decided to refer the bill to the committee on education.

Proponents of the name change will come to Little Rock tonight to present their position to legislators at a dinner. Gov. Faubus is expected to attend.

This act is the French word meaning between acts of a show, otherwise "intermission." But, originally it was called "actuel," meaning audiences could make of carry on conversations while an orchestra played soft music.

Baylor Surprises SMU But TCU Maintains Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Face-setter Texas Christian defeated Rice, but favored Southern Methodist lost to Baylor and Texas Tech, whipped Texas last night in Southwest Conference basketball.

TCU whipped Rice 58-52 at Houston. Baylor trounced SMU 70-33 at Dallas, and Texas Tech whipped Texas 64-47 at Austin.

The Horned Frogs' victory over Rice, coupled with Baylor's upset of SMU, gave the Christians a two-game lead in the conference race. They are now 4-0 in loop play.

H. E. Kirchner led the Frog attack with 16 points, although he fouled out with 4:31 to go. Max Bedenbaugh paced Rice with 16 points.

The Frogs capitalized on excellent corner shots to send the Owls loss while winning their own fourth in their third straight conference straight.

Baylor used a man-to-man defense to wear down the Ponies in Dallas, knocked the Methodist out of their zone defense and rolled to a 35-25 lead at the half.

Bob Turner led the shooting for the Bears with 27 points with Wilbur Marsh high for the Mustangs with 16. It left both teams with 2-2 conference records.

Texas Tech also pulled up to a 2-2 record in beating Texas by controlling both backboards and Longhorns to 14 goals from the field. Leon Hill led the Red Raiders with 26 points.

Not a single Longhorn scored in double figures, and the loss placed Texas in the cellar with Rice with a 1-3 record.

No conference games are scheduled again until Friday night when Texas play Texas A&M at College Station and Rice entertains Baylor at Houston.

Knockout Specialist Meets Ray Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Rogue, Maravilla of Boise, Idaho, a 22-year-old light heavyweight with 18 knockouts to his credit, tonight makes his national TV boxing debut against the No. 5 contender, Sonny Ray.

Ray, a 23-year-old counter-puncher and body-pummeller who came up through Chicago's small clubs, has won 8 of his last 9 bouts and is a 2-1 favorite.

In his last outing Nov. 14, Ray made an impressive but losing battle with the No. 1 rated contender, Tony Anthony, in Madison Square Garden. He also is the only fighter ever to defeat Jesse Bowdrey, doing it three times.

Maravilla lost two of five starts in 1958, including a defeat by Eddie Cotton in his last time out, Dec. 11, in Boise. Cotton is among Ray's victims. Ray has a 19-6-5 record, including 7 knockouts.

Maravilla has 18 kayoes in a 29-4-2 record.

Louisville in Upset of 7th Ranked Bradley

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
The University of Louisville has been going down the college basketball ladder steadily since putting together a 21-5 mark two years ago. But once in a while the Cardinals spring a surprise.

Tuesday night was a case in point, when they beat seventh-ranked Bradley 79-66.

And it was a comparatively easy victory, to Bradley trailed by four points at the intermission, eight shortly after halftime and by four again a few minutes later.

But then Louisville's John Turner and Roger Tieman began connecting with long set shots from the side and the Cardinals pulled away. Tieman led the scoring with 20 points.

West Virginia was the only other team among the top 10 in action and the 10th-rated Mountaineers came through handsomely by trimming William and Mary 86-76 for their 42nd consecutive Southern Conference victory.

The Mountaineers seeking their fifth straight conference title, put their league record for the season at 6-0.

In another Southern Conference tilt, George Washington defeated Richmond 72-64.

In the Southwest Conference, Texas Christian increased its lead to two games by defeating Rice 58-52. Texas Tech whipped Texas 64-47 and Baylor upset Southern Methodist 70-53.

Dartmouth took a 74-56 Ivy League victory over Harvard and Duke edged Clemson 45-41 in a tight Atlantic Coast Conference tussle.

Marquette blasted Valparaiso 96-74 for its 11th consecutive success. DePaul handed Notre Dame its ninth defeat in 13 games, 69-66. Virginia snapped a seven-game losing streak by rolling over Washington and Le 80-66.

In tonight's most important game, top-ranked North Carolina State faces fourth-rated North Carolina. Other contests pit Xavier of Ohio at Dayton, South Carolina at Wake Forest and Yale at Army.

St. Louis Coach

Has 5-Year Pact

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks basketball team, sometimes called the graveyard of coaches, could have the same pilot for the next five years.

Fiery Ben Kerner, who has disposed of coaches four times in 23 months, has made an about face and offered the job to Easy Ed McCauley, who now has it, with a five-year contract and a total salary "in excess of $100,000."

Easy Ed has until Feb. 15 to make his decision, he told sports-writers Tuesday at a dinner.

To a man, Army brass said they were caught completely flatfooted.

One high West Point officer said "We were so surprised that we have no one else in mind. We're wide open for all applications."

There are several theories about Blaik's resignation.

It has been said he has a bad stomach and the steadily increasing pressures of the game are getting to be too much. It has also been said he was at the end of his rope trying to convince the brass Army should play post-season bowl games and thus gain additional prestige. And it has been said he wanted to be able to have prospective players tutored before taking the entrance examinations just as Navy has been doing.

The last two offer the most logical reasons. At the end of last season, when Army compiled a record of eight victories, no defeats and one tie, the Cadets were certain bowl timber. But the policy of higher ups was against it.

As for the tutoring of players before entrance, the NCAA acknowledged last week that the service academies had special problems and therefore could set no harm in the tutoring. It is possible Blaik pointed this out to the brass, got a turnaround and decided to call it quits.

After expressing his regrets at leaving the Academy, and pointing out the strong position of Army sports, Blaik said:

"At the present time, there is no personal commitment to any future plan, though within a reasonable time I shall accept one of several opportunities either in television or business. Right now, Mrs. Blaik and I are going to take a short vacation."

Hope and Emmet teams split two games here last night at Jones' Field House with the Emmet girls winning over the Hope girls by a score of 36 to 21.

In the second contest the Junior varsity boys of Hope downed the Emmet boys 40 to 26 with Arnett and Duke tossing in 10 and 12 for the local team. Dougan was high scorer for Emmet with 10.

Spring Hill Wins 2 of 3 From Bradley

Spring Hill cage teams won 2 out of 3 games last night from Bradley in the Spring Hill Gym.

Roy Garner hit for 9 and Ray Garner had 8 to lead the Spring Hill Junior boys to a 27-19 win. Harriett had 6 for Bradley.

Bradley Senior girls edged out a 42-27 victory with Copeland getting 11 and Burks 10. Linda Gallows was high for Spring Hill with 17.

Coach Billy Mitchell's Senior boys romped to a 69-48 triumph with Terrell Townsend hitting the basket for 27 points and Bobby Tompkins 15. Hammer had 21 and Shaver 14 for Bradley.

Friday night, Garland City will come to Spring Hill with all proceeds to go to the March of Dimes.

Blaik Resigns as Coach of West Point

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army today began the long quest for a new football coach and athletic director while failing to throw a clue on the mystery of why a coach on top of the world should abruptly quit.

Earl (Red) Blaik, fresh from an undefeated season and the toast of the coaching set for his "lonely end" offense last year, resigned Tuesday, effective Feb. 15, his 62nd birthday, after 18 years with Army.

His only reason: "This is the proper time to withdraw from college sports, as to overstay a coaching career is unthinkable."

Sometimes Best Scenes Are Cut Out

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Galvin knows that some of life's most fascinating scenes end up on a film cutting room plan.

If the nation's celebrities appear to best advantage on NBC-TV's "Today" program, they can thank Galvin, who has been carefully guarding their reputations as supervising film editor of the show since it went on the air seven years ago.

With the promise that no names would be revealed, Galvin took to reminding the other day. He recalled:

Quinn Finally

Receives a

Promotion

By CHUCK CAPALDO

Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The only thing that eluded John Quinn in his 14 years as general manager of the Milwaukee Braves was a promotion.

Tuesday, after twice being passed over when bigger, better paying jobs became available in the Braves' front office, Quinn bolted to the Phillies at a healthy increase in salary.

His title will be the same as it was with the Braves—vice president and general manager. His pay will jump from $22,500 to around $35,000.

Quinn termed the change "the biggest decision I ever made in my life."

Before Quinn took the Braves in 1945, they hadn't won a National League pennant in 31 years and hadn't finished in the first division 10.

Under his able direction, the Braves won three National championships, three NL pennants and finished in the first division 12 times. They also developed a farm system second to none.

The resignation of the rail-thin, 50-year-old Boston Irishman with craggy features left in its wake genuine sorrow among Braves' personnel.

"He made us what we are today," said one front office employee. "He won't be easy to replace."

moite said that unless the new regime met out "fast justice," the public would take the law into its own hands to avenge the torture and murder of an estimated 20,000 Cubans by Batista police and soldiers.

Trials already had been suspended in Santiago, capital of Oriente province, where Castro's movement and Batista's repression were centered.

More than half the reported executions have occurred in Oriente, including the snuffing of 71 persons in two batches early Monday, which the spokesman confirmed.

Reports of the executions aroused strong protests in the United States. One especially noted in Havana was made by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) in the Senate Monday. He called the executions blood baths that were not the way for the new regime to win free world support.

The average Cuban appeared to approve the killings, however, and revolutionary leaders at first defended their course.

asked Castro in a speech to the Havana Lions Club.

By JOHN H. AVERILL
WASHINGTON (AP)—New congressional criticism was raised today against the wave of executions by Cuba's new revolutionary government.

The new regime, apparently taken aback by the storm of criticism provoked in the United States and elsewhere by the firing squad shootings, announced Tuesday night the executions were being suspended.

No date for their resumption was given. But a government spokesman said that when they are, newsmen as well as the general public will have the opportunity to watch the proceedings from military trial to execution.

One House member said that if the executions continue without formal trials the regime of rebel chieftain Fidel Castro stands to "forfeit the respect of the whole Hemisphere."

The number of those executed was estimated unofficially at 150. "It is regrettable that Castro is executing these gentlemen without real trials," said Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind).

Capehart, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and its Latin American Affairs subcommittee, told a reporter: "These (executions) appear to be the actions of a dictator or someone demanding revenge. It is a poor way to try to win support and confidence of the public."

Another member of the same subcommittee, Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.), said if the new regime continues widespread executions it "can lose a great deal of public support."

Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore), a specialist in Latin American affairs, said that considering the number of people involved in the revolution he doesn't regard the executions as a "blood bath"—a term used Monday by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore). However, Porter added:

"The whole purpose of the revolution is gainsaid if they have wholesale shootings without trials. They will forfeit the respect of the whole hemisphere."

Charges Rights Group Refused Look at List

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—U.S. Civil Rights Commission agents reportedly refused to look at voter registration records in Bullock County today in a new clash of federal versus state authority.

The Bullock County grand jury had offered to let the commission investigators see the records, but Circuit Solicitor (Prosecutor) Seymour Trammell said they objected to the wording of a grand jury report which opened the records leader, challenged statements of Republican congressional leaders that the new budget will show a 100-million-dollar surplus and that tax cuts may be possible in two or three years. He said such claims won't hold water.

Mansfield and other Democrats contend President Eisenhower plans to balance a 77-billion-dollar budget by estimating revenues at a far higher level than they are likely to reach.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said in a separate interview Congress will take a good look at what he said promises to be a "pipe dream" budget, to be submitted by Eisenhower next Monday.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said he is certain Congress is going to vote all of the funds it deems needed for defense whether it balances the budget or not.

However, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, said the Democrats were jumping to conclusions without having the facts.

"Anybody who denounces the President's budget in advance of studying it in detail simply convicts himself of political demagoguery," Kuchel said. "If the budget isn't balanced it will be because the Democratic Congress doesn't vote to keep it in balance."

A House concurrent resolution, introduced by Craighead Reps. John Stutes and Norman Wimpy, also congratulated Arkansas State College on its 50th anniversary.

Trammell was in Montgomery for a scheduled federal court hearing to determine whether Circuit Judge George C. Wallace must go to jail for disobeying an order to produce the records in Bullock and Barbour counties. The hearing was postponed for 24 hours.

The solicitor said he received a telephone call from the Bullock grand jury foreman, Roy Holmes, and from County Solicitor Reihard Stone.

Trammell said they reported the commission agents had protested against a sentence in the grand jury report which praised Wallace for his defiant stand.

Resolution Against Assessment Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A resolution opposing any change in the state's property reassessment program was passed yesterday by the Arkansas Assessors Assn.'s executive and legislative committees.
